01. Footnote for uncertain tax position under FIN 48 (Part X)

Live It Learn It follows the Financial Accounting Standards Board Accounting Standards Codification, which provides guidance on accounting for uncertainty in income taxes recognized in Live It Learn It's financial statements, if any. As of yearend, Live It Learn It had no unrecognized tax benefits related to uncertain tax positions in its information return that would qualify for either recognition or disclosure in its financial statements. Live It Learn It's policy would be to recognize interest and penalties on tax positions related to its unrecognized tax benefits in income tax expense in the financial statements.

Through yearend, there have been no matters that would have resulted in an accrual for interest and/or penalties.

Partnerships with Title I schools: We offer our exceptional programs to students who need them the most - those in high-poverty schools that often lack the resources to provide experiential learning opportunities.

Rigorous three-part learning model: Each Live It Learn It experience consists of a pedagogically sound learning loop - extensive preparation, intensive experience, and guided reflection - to ensure that students get the most out of every program.

Engaging curricular materials: For each of our twenty-five programs, our staff has developed rich, detailed curricular materials that are interdisciplinary, age-appropriate, and aligned with Common Core standards.

Transformative effect on teachers: Partner teachers see firsthand the powerful effect that our experiential learning programs have on their students, and are often inspired to incorporate more active learning into their daily lessons.

Emphasis on rigor and engagement: We understand that children learn best when they are highly motivated, so our programs are designed to challenge students while inspiring joy and excitement.

Explanation

Live It Learn It partners with schools in Washington DC, that reach mostly black and brown children in high-poverty schools and under-resourced communities, along with museums and cultural institutions to create and deliver hands-on, student centered, and interactive learning opportunities for students in order to increase their confidence, build on their intrinsic motivation, and support their academic achievements. Our teaching centers on the Arts, Humanities, and Science. While all of our students are from high poverty schools, we focus heavily on children and teachers in schools that are located in Wards 7 and 8, these schools are East of the Anacostia River. Also, 82% of our students have indicated that they are first time visitors to DCs museums and cultural institutions. Each Live It Learn It experience consists of a sound learning loop - pre lesson, field experience, and guided reflection - to ensure that students get the most out of every program. LILI demonstrated flexibility and adaptability in response to COVID 19 induced quarantines in various classrooms in our schools. We understand that children learn best when they are highly motivated, so our programs are designed to challenge students while inspiring joy and excitement. LILI continued to bolster our rich curricular materials by adapting them to align with outdoor field experiences since many of our partner museums and cultural institutions remained closed or limited visitorship due to COVID 19. LILI continues to adapt our units to align with our Anti-Bias, Anti-Racist (ABAR) principles. Also, LILI recruited its fourth cohort of Experiential Learning Fellows who allow us to have an indirect impact on students through teacher professional development.
